Course Description: This course will cover some facets of social network analysis and its relevance to families, and extremism/terrorism. Next, an overview of the phenomenon of extremists/terrorists in families will be shared. The importance of this type of criminality will be underscored. This will be followed by numerous and insightful case studies of U.S. and foreign-based, family-linked extremists/terrorists. By providing these case studies, a better appreciation of this issue will take hold. For contrast, case studies of family members informing about their extremist/terrorist kin will be shared. The second main section of the presentation will discuss in detail the methodologies for impeding family-linked extremism/terrorism, including many law enforcement responses.
