Practical Interrogation Training

February 24-25, 2011

8:30 a.m. - 4:30 p.m.

LETAC Training Center

3171 Greenhead Drive, Suite B, Springfield, IL

Most interrogations fail because of the interrogator's lack of endurance and stamina. These weaknesses afford suspects a psychological edge to hold out even longer. This two-day course allows officers and detectives an opportunity to practice their interrogation abilities by way of mock classroom interrogation scenarios. Training simulates field, station house, and traffic stop interrogation situations, many of which are actual cases. Each participant receives an evaluation from the instructor and constructive feedback from other course members. Training manual supports lecture material as well as actual videotaped interrogations, false confession studies, and discussions regarding police coercion and lying in obtaining confessions.

Class size is limited to 13 participants due to the training's practical aspect.

ABOUT THE INSTRUCTOR: Jeff Baile began his law enforcement career as a patrol officer with the Mendota Police Department in 1976 where he received numerous letters of commendations for burglary, drug, and stolen vehicle arrests. He became a breath-alcohol examiner, burglary investigation specialist, and was placed in charge of the department's darkroom developing film and enlarging prints for court. A childhood dream to become a game warden was realized when the Illinois Conservation Police hired him in 1979.

For over twenty-five years, Mr. Baile was the Peoria County conservation police officer. Besides patrol duties, he served as breath alcohol examiner, field training and forensics officer, academy instructor, and boat accident investigator. He investigated dozens of complex boating accident deaths in the Peoria area many of which were reckless homicide offenses. Due to his expertise in interviewing and interrogation, Jeff was often called upon to investigate other boating accidents, burglaries, dead-end and high profile cases, which gave him keen insight into interrogation stratagem.

Jeff has accumulated hundreds of hours of formalized training in professional interviewing and interrogation techniques and body language analysis. His in-depth analysis of nonverbal communication, deception clues, and his innovative study of waving, earned him high marks from his department. He was awarded Illinois Officer of the Year Award in 1985, the Shikar Safari International Wildlife Officer of the Year Award 1993, Region I Life Saving Award, and numerous investigative honors. Through these efforts, Mr. Baile founded, developed, and implemented Illinois' existing forty-hour Interview and Interrogation Recruit and In-Service Training Program in 1989.

Mr. Baile received his Associate in General Education degree from Illinois Central College and Bachelor of Arts degree in Criminal Justice from the University of Illinois. He is a Certified Forensic Interviewer having conducted thousands of interviews and extracting an estimated 5000 confessions from poachers to burglars to vandals to drug users to hostile witnesses. His cases were rarely contested in court due to this high confession rate.

Ellen L. Petty, Director

Jeff has instructed thousands of local, county, state, and federal law enforcement officers while an associate of John J. Millner & Associates, Inc., Elmhurst, IL. This training has allowed him to travel to various parts of Illinois, Florida, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, Missouri, Nebraska, South Dakota, Arizona, and Wisconsin. Jeff's engaging teaching style, experiences, and his characteristic way of intertwining research with practical application, permit easy digestion of the methods for immediate field use. He is also a frequent guest instructor at Bradley University and Illinois Central College in Peoria, where he lectures about professionalism in police work to criminal justice majors.

Mr. Baile is a contributing editor with International Game Warden Magazine authoring the popular Face to Face column which is also reprinted for the Oregon Trooper News.
