Multiple Officer Control Tactic (MOCT) Train-the-Trainer Course

November 10th, 2010

8:30 a.m. - 12:30 p.m.

Springfield Police Academy

3501 Colorplant Road, Springfield, IL

About the Course: This course will instruct the student on the Multiple Officer Control Tactic (MOCT) that is applicable to controlling subjects in an extremely agitated state, such as Excited Delirium. It is applicable to other situations where law enforcement/corrections/EMS need to quickly and safely gain control of a person.

The course starts with a basic instruction on the process with the student working from each of the control positions, (i.e. lead officer, arms, legs, less-lethal cover, and EMS). It will then demonstrate the process when using as few as three officers. Once this is completed, the drills and safety considerations are broken down so the student understands the foundation of the process and can demonstrate and explain the process to their students.

The course will end with the student then teaching different drills of the process to other attendees in the course to demonstrate proficiency in the process.

A sample lesson plan will be given to attendees upon completion of the course.
